

PALLA PHARMA

Who is Palla Pharma?

Palla Pharma is an Australian ASX listed company established in 2004. There are three poppy processors licensed to operate in Australia. Of these, only Palla Pharma Ltd is Australian owned. There are only eight licensed narcotic facilities in the world.

Palla Pharma's competitive advantage is that it is the only narcotics facility in the world to use a water-based extraction and purification system. All other systems use toxic petroleum-based solvents with associated sustainability, health, and economic disadvantages. Our water-based system is a genuine Australian innovation which we continue to develop with intensive R&D.

Palla Pharma is now truly vertically integrated from Farm to Pharmacy and now produces consumer pharmaceuticals for worldwide consumption.

Palla Pharma's International Expansion

Palla Pharma has developed long term supply agreements Northern Hemisphere, complementing Southern Hemisphere production by having a second harvest mid-year, and therefore increasing our security of supply to meet our customer's global demand.

With a hands-on approach, our team assist and advise our partners, and their growers with varietal development, agronomic approach, and harvest technique to increase assays and total yield. Quality of straw is paramount for both parties.

Future development plans to follow.
